Earlier today (23rd April), we revealed that The World's No. 1 club is once again Hi Ibiza, which takes the title for the third year in a row, while Europe at large remains the continent with the most charting clubs. The region also sees new entries from the UK, France and Spain. Italy supplies two new clubs as well — one situated on the Mediterranean island of Sardinia — which boosts it to joint third in the European rankings alongside Germany, who recently recognised the Berlin techno scene as part of its UNESCO intangible cultural heritage list. North America is down two clubs overall, but sees a new entry from Canada. And Asia claims the remaining new entries — two from Vietnam and one from each of Singapore, Thailand, Indonesia and Japan — bumping it up to second in the continental rankings. Japan's additional entry pushes it to the top of Asia's leaderboard, while Indonesia's newcomer — the luxurious Savaya in Bali — pulls off an incredible feat by jumping straight in at No.9, earning the Highest New Entry award and making it Asia's highest ranking venue.
